Certifications/Labels/Textile Associations/Initiatives of

PRODUCT-RELATED LABELS AND CERTIFICATIONS

EN ISO 20471:

Warning protection standard to certificate clothing, worn at work in situations at high risk to be overlooked. The articles are divided into three different categories, according to the permitted driving speeds (category 1: (≤ 30km/h (Klasse 1), 31-60km/h (Klasse 2), > 60km/h (Klasse 3)), as well as according to the amount of used fluorescent background material and reflective material, which are necessary for 360° visibility day and night. The classification can also be achieved by combining different articles, e.g. combining a jacket and a trouser. The overall surface of logos needs to be subtracted from the visible surface. Therefore it is necessary to check out before finishing, that the articles reach the given minimum standards in order to keep the obligated high visibility zones big enough. The clothes are marked with the pictogram, where instead of the “x”, the applying category is filled in.

FAIRTRADE certified cotton:

You can find this label on your clothes. FLO-CERT GmbH is certifying this quality seal which is dealing with the production of cotton. Manufacturers have to pay at least a cost covering price to their farmers as well as an additional bonus for infrastructure, education and social affairs. The decision for the use of this extra money is taken collectively by the farmers. This additional bonus is often used to change production to organic farming. If desired, buyers have to pay a part of the harvest in advance and both sides have to focus on stable and long term trade relationships. The certification authority is controlling the farmers that have to join together in cooperations to make decisions about the bonus they receive. They have to keep the agreed social (improvement of working conditions according to the ILO guidelines), economical (flow of goods and money) and environmental (environment and climate protection) conditions.

Oeko-Tex Standard 100:

The use of that product seal in clothes ensures the testing in all steps of production on substances prohibited, or regulated by law, health concerning substances and also ensures health parameters. All components of the final product (sewing cotton, buttons, etc.) have to comply with the basic limit values. Depending on the extent of skin contact, the products are divided into four classes. The most stringent requirements are for toddlers and babies. The certification must be renewed once a year.

Organic Content Standard 100 (OCS 100):

The organic content standard certification, which is directly fixed on clothing, is awarded by the charitable organisation named Textil Exchange. This certification is replacing the OE 100 Standard. Depending on the amount of biological material, different logos are used (OCS 100: 95-100% kBA/kBT fibres; OCS Blended: 5-94% kBA/kBT fibres). Through this verification, contamination should be avoided and the use of organic natural fibers is clearly documented. All companies along the supply chain have to follow this standard.

TEXTILE ASSOCIATIONS/INITIATIVES

amfori Business Social Compliance Initiative (BSCI):

Companies of all sectors and regions can use their code of conduct and implementation system. However, there is no identification on the goods. The Code of Conduct covers the following 11 topics: freedom of assembly and collective bargaining, fair wages, health and safety, protection of young employees, forced labour, ethical conduct, discrimination, working time, no critical employment, environmental protection and child labour. It is based on the ILO conventions and declarations, UN guidelines and OECD guidelines. Companies commit to the BSCI by signing the Code of Conduct. The auditing procedures take place every 3 years and are proven by an external testing company.

Fair Labor Association (FLA):

The Fair Labor Association which was founded in 1999 believes that all goods should be produced fairly and ethically. FLA brings together universities, civil society organizations (CSOs) and companies to find sustainable solutions to systemic labor issues. All companies, that are part of the FLA are committing themselves to the FLA Code of Conduct, built on the ILO core labour standards. The FLA code of conduct contains regulations of working conditions, working hours, abuse, child labour, forced labour, collective bargaining, health, safety, environment and payment.

The FLA is controlling the implementation of the code of conduct on a yearly basis. Moreover, the companies are supported by guidance and benchmarking is used for further improvements. It is expected that the companies are taking steps to improve, as long as standards are not fulfilled. The successful verification is valid for 2-3 years.

Fair Wear Foundation:

Fair Wear Foundation is an independent, non-profit organisation that works with companies and factories to improve labour conditions for garment workers. The base of the collaboration between FWF and a member is the Code of Labour Practices. It includes the following 8 statements: employment is freely chosen, no discrimination in employment, no child labour, freedom of association and the right to collective bargaining, payment of a living wage, no excessive working hours, safe and healthy working conditions, legally binding employment relationships. These standards are based on the ILO core labour standards and the UN Declaration of Human Rights. The use of the label on clothes is only allowed, if the company is integrating at least 90% of the production volume in the Monitoring System and as a consequence is reaching the score of 75+ in the benchmarking brand performance check. FWF examines and rates its members and subsequently reports the results officially. If necessary, the companies have to improve their standards and document the process.

SAI was founded in 1989 and has established criteria, which all certified SAI companies have to fulfil to receive the certification. This criteria list is based on the UN Declaration of Human Rights, conventions of the ILO, UN and national law, and spans industry and corporate codes to create a common language to measure social performance. All decisions must be taken by companies, governments, trade unions and NGOs together. Each production facility needs its own certification, which lasts for 3 years. This certification is valid across all industrial sectors regardless of the size or other critical factors. The list is including the following topics: child labour, forced or compulsory labour, health and safety, freedom of association and right to collective bargaining, discrimination, disciplinary practices, working hours, remuneration and management system.

Supplier Ethical Data Exchange (SEDEX):

Sedex is a not for profit membership organisation dedicated to driving improvements in responsible and ethical business practices in global supply chains. Its core product is an online database, which allows members to store, share and report information on four key areas: labour standards, health and safety, environment and business ethics. On the platform you can find information about ethical and responsible practices based on the following codices: ILO convention, ETI Basis Codex, SA8000, ISO 14001 and further specific sectoral codes of conduct. On the provided platform suppliers can enter their ethical information and choose to share it with multiple customers on Sedex. For purchasers Sedex offers an electronic system for collecting and analyzing information on ethical and responsible business practices in their supply chain. A variety of reporting tools are enabling buyers to keep track of their suppliers' performance and they also have access to an advanced risk assessment tool. Any company can be part of this organization, but all registered members have to make sure to provide correct and honest information. However, the stated data is not audited by Sedex.

Worldwide Responsible Accredited Production (WRAP):

WRAP was founded in 2000 by an US garment trading organisation. WRAP is an independent, objective, non-profit team of global social compliance experts dedicated to promoting safe, lawful, humane and ethical manufacturing around the world through certification and education. Only specific production sites can be certificated, no brands or companies. Therefore the label is not directly fixed on the clothes. WRAP is adherent to the following 12 principles: compliance with local laws, prohibition of forced labour, prohibition of child labour, prohibition of harassment or abuse, compensation and benefits, hours of work, prohibition of discrimination, health and safety, freedom of association, environment, customs compliance and security. Depending on the fulfilment of the principles the factories are rated with gold, silver or platin certifications. WRAP audits are primarily carried out by accredited monitoring partners. They are analysing the self-evaluation, created by the audited factories. Based on that report WRAP, is deciding if the factory can be certificated. Additionally, all certified facilities, regardless of certification level, are also subject to randomized, unannounced post-certification audits, which can occur at any time.

Textile Encyclopaedia – fabrics and materials from A-Z

3-in-1 jackets

jacket consisting of two components that can either be worn individually or together, e.g. removable fleece, jackets offers the opportunity to wear fleece and jacket individually or together (3 possibilities to wear).

acrylic

synthetic fibre similar to wool, characteristics: light-resistant, easy care, warming, high bulkiness, weather- and shape resistance, quick drying antibacterial

special treatment to avoid the proliferation of bacteria and fungus, reduces odour antipilling

special treatment to reduce pilling and felting brushed cotton loose fibres are erected through a brushing process, enables a soft and velvet surface brushed inside sweaters are roughened inside after knitting to obtain the soft and warming fleece lining button-down collar collar points are fixed with buttons, sporty look, mostly used for leisure wear worn without a tie cap closures

metal clip closure, hook and loop fastener (Velcro®), buckle, press stud (click&snap closure, snap back, pvc closure), Flexfit® chino cotton (cotton-twill) twill weave fabric, pattern of diagonal parallel ribs collar bones

are added to the collar to prevent the collar points from rolling up, collar bones can be fixed or removable and can be made of different materials (plastic is the most commonly used material) combed cotton

the cotton is parallelized before spinning and short fibres are removed, as a result, the spun yarn is finer, stronger and has a smoother surface, less pilling trademark, fabric made from polyamide, characteristics: rougher, better tear-resistant and more textured than regular nylon, water repellent and fast drying cotton

Cordura®

natural fibre, high moisture absorption, pleasant touch, good colourability cutaway collar

also called Italian collar, widely-spaced collar points, depending on the distance between the collar wings it is suitable for smaller or larger tie knots down jackets

have to be filled with down from duck or goose, characteristics: light weight, breathable, high isolation, great elasticity (unfold quickly to their original size after unpacking), winter jackets consist often of a mixture of 90% down and 10% feathers, feathers are important for an optimal isolation and enable the right unfolding of the jackets that wouldn't be possible with a filling made of 100% down elastane synthetic fibre used in small quantities for a better elasticity and form stability felt

non-woven fabric, fibres get connected through a chemical, thermic or mechanical process, originally made from wool, also produced in various natural and synthetic fibres, characteristics: high density, elastic with pressure, slightly stretchable, resistant, high isolation fleece brushed velour fabric, usually made of polyester, the loops of this knitwear are cut open and roughened, soft and velvet touch, comfortable on the skin, high isolation at low weight, water repellent fleece with smooth surface perfect for decoration because of the smooth outside, brushed only inside french terry

not brushed inside, sweater is less soft and warm, less pilling heather/melange

using yarns with different colours and materials creates this effect herringbone

twill fabric, distinctive V-shaped weaving pattern, reminding of a fish skeleton, easy to iron, tough and densely woven fabric, often used for casual business outfits hybrid jackets

made of mixed material, that provide different characteristics, for example on body and arms, for example wind proof and breathable materials are combined interlock

very compact surface, high quality, durable, elastic fabric with good washing results, inside and outside look the same jute

bast fibre, made from the stems of jute plant, coarse fibre, characteristics: tear resistant, suitable for dyeing, high firmness at stretching, specific smell kent collar

elegant, classical, pointed, short collar - suitable for almost all tie knots and -shapes, also suitable for bow ties knitted fleece knitted out- and brushed inside give the fleece an exceptional visual characteristic and a good isolation

Lyra®

registered trademark, elastane fibre microfleece short cut fleece material, lighter, finer and more compact than regular fleece mesh material with coarse structure for more breathability, often used for linings or insets mottled yarn

using yarns with different thickness creates this effect necktape fabric tape between body and collar for comfortable wearing, shoulder-to-shoulder necktape is a characteristic of quality and improves dimensional stability and stabilisation of the seams new kent collar an elegant mix of kent and cutaway collar, not as wide as the cutaway, not as pointed as the classical kent collar, suitable for all tie knots oxford

plain-weave fabric, two-tone appearance because of the use of one white and one coloured yarn, durable and soft fabric that is warming on cool days, mostly used for leisure wear and often in combination with a button-down collar padded jackets

quilted parts guarantee an even filling, filling can exist of various materials, padded jackets with down filling are called down jackets panels

fabric elements of caps are called panels, most caps consist of 5 or 6 panels, 5 panel caps are better suitable for decoration on the front (no stitching at the front) pima cotton high quality due to long fibres, harvesting by hand and optimal growing conditions in Peru, characteristics: extra soft, light shine, extremely durable piqué granular surface, raised parallel cords or geometric designs in the fabric are characteristic polyamide (nylon) synthetic fibre with high durability, quick drying polycotton

mix of cotton and polyester, to use benefits of both materials polyester

most common synthetic fibre, characteristics: tensile strength, fineness, good dimensional stability, low moisture absorption, good wash behaviour, excellent light resistance polyester pongee fabric made from polyester filaments, thin, sleek fabric, formerly made from silk poplin

plain-weave fabric, breathable, durable, smooth, lightweight and densely woven material, one of the most common fabrics for shirts and blouses preshrunk procedure to reduce shrinkage after washing (permitted tolerances) raglan sleeves diagonale seams course starting from the collar rib knit

right/right product, equal in- and outside, often used for collar and cuffs, high elasticity, low material weight, difference between 1x1 rib (alternately knitted left and right) and 2x2 rib (alternately 2 left and 2 right stitches)

ring-spun cotton softer, finer, smoother and more shiny than open end yarn, optimal printability rip stop

typical chequered structure due to a special weaving technique, mostly made of nylon, characteristics: particular tear-resistant and strong semi combed cotton

instead of 3 combing processings there is only one, result is a semi-finished product between carded (not combed) and combed cotton set-in sleeves

straight set sleeves

single jersey

fine knitted, stretchy, breathable material, inside and outside different (left/right loops), material of most t-shirts single ply terry

made of fine single yarns, fine loops get twisted and connected, softer and more absorbent fabric, more resistant against pulling out threads softshell jackets functional jackets, usually made of 2 or 3 layers (with membrane), inside material (e.g. microfleece) provides isolation and transports the moisture away from skin, if existing, the membrane has windproof and breathable function, outside is made of water repellent material, that transports moisture to the outside, softshell jackets without membrane are more breathable, jackets with membrane are more wind and rain proof stretch

marks stretchable fabrics including a share of certain materials like for example elastane or Lycra®

Teflon®

used for coatings, water and dirt repellent, not printable terry cloth

cotton fabric typically used for towels, small loops on one or both sides, very soft, bulky and absorbent material

(T)PU coating

through an inside coating the material gets breathable and water repellent or even waterproof tubular construction

if not specified differently, all models have side seams to adapt the fit, items without side seams are declared as tubular construction

twill

twill weave fabric, pattern of diagonal parallel ribs, most common use in denim fabrics, durable fabric with a warm and soft touch viscose (rayon) chemical fibre made from a natural basic material (cellulose), often referred to as artificial silk, eudermic, not stretchable, strong wrinkling, flowing fabric, very even surface, perfect for dyeing and printing
